LOQUATS AND OTHER EXOTICS

Price List.

LOQUATS.

For more than fifteen years I have worked on the Loquat and from some thousands of seedlings can confidently recommend the following well tested varieties as superior to any others:

PREMIER—Very large, oval, skin and flesh salmon-colored, delicious flavor; usually the earliest to ripen.

PINEAPPLE—This is of an unsurpassed flavor, very large, round, grows in immense clusters; flesh white, skin yellow.

THE ADVANCE—The best known. A magnificent fruit. Clusters very large; rather late in ripening.

THE COMMERCIAL—Very large, pear-shaped, yellow skin, white flesh. Quite new Fruited in 1900 for the first time.

THE BLUSH—A very large Loquat. Much like the Advance. Chiefly remarkable for its resistance to disease of all sorts.

☞All of these varieties are from three to four times the size of the ordinary seedlings.

PRICE,—AFTER JANUARY 1ST, 1903:

The Commercial, one dollar per tree.
